ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1914. PRICE TWO CENTS.

THIS THE RANGE THAT DID IT.

One bundle of wood one filling of coal and in less than 30 minutes after the fire was started the thermometer in the oven registered 410 degrees. No knowing how much hotter it was, for that was as high as the thermometer would go. Biscuit for breakfast? Sure—20 minutes after the fire's started.

A CRAWFORD
NO OTHER COULD.

Range can boast of such a performance. The reason's plain—a Crawford wastes no heat, but carries all the heat that's made direct to the oven. You haven't a Crawford? Then you don't know what easy cooking means. Half a hod of coal a day, the right oven at the right moment any time and all the time. You simply fix the damper and the range does the rest. Today's a bully time to christen one.

SMITH TRIAL DOWN TO THE ARGUMENTS.

Evidence Completed and Jury to Take the Case Wednesday.

Five Witnesses for Defense and Several in Rebuttal Complete the List.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 20—The evidence in the trial of Charles B. Smith of Newport, who is charged with killing William P. Eagan at Easton's beach in that city on the evening of July 4 last, was concluded this morning and the arguments were begun this afternoon at the re-assembling of the court, each side being allowed an hour and a half. Judge Sweeney will make his charge to the jury at the opening of court at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning thus giving the jury practically the entire day for consideration of the case.

The defense this morning finished its case by calling five witnesses—Mary E. Murray Mary Grady Rev. T. Wellington Henderson, D. D., Rev. Henry N. Jeter, D. D., and Cyrus Rush. Drs. Henderson and Jeter testified regarding Smith's reputation and character and Rush repeated his

PRIVATE MONOPOLY CALLED INDEFENSIBLE.

Wilson, in Message on Trusts, Says It is Intolerable.

Personal Appeal Made for Co-Operation in Congress in Handling Problem.

WASHINTON, Jan. 20.—President Wilson personally laid before a joint session of Congress today the fundamental principles of the Democratic administration's program for dealing with trusts and "big business." He presented the case, he said, "as it lies in the thought of the country," reiterating "that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable," and declaring that conscientious business men throughout the nation will not be satisfied until practices now deprecated by public opinion as restraints of trade and commerce are corrected.

"We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace," said the President, "the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

Besides suggesting the scope of legislation, the President made a personal appeal for an atmosphere of friendliness and co-operation in Congress while handling the problem "The antagonism," he said, "between business and government is over. We are now about to give expression to the best judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other halfway in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law."

The chief points which the President singled out as a basis for legislation were:

1—Effectual prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of great corporations—banks, railroads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies.

2—A law to confer upon the Inter state Commerce Comanission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development and improved transportation facilities. The President made it clear that "the prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected" in this regard.

3—Definition of "the many hurtful restraints of trade" by explicit legislation supplementary to the Sherman law.

4—The creation of a commission to aid the courts and to act as a clearing house of information in helping business to conform with the law.

5—Provision of penalties and punishments to fall upon individuals responsible for unlawful business practices.

6—Prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion that the voting power of individuals holding shares in numerous corporations might be restricted.

7—Giving to private individuals the right to found suits for redress on facts and udgments proven in government suits, and providing that the statute of limitations should run only from the date of conclusion of the government's action.

For the fifth time since last April Congress assembled in joint session to hear read in person a message from the chief executive. While the novelty of the event has departed somewhat with the recurrence of the President's visits to the Capitol, there was apparent today intense interest in the subject of his speech.

In many ways the President considers the trust question the most vital of public problems. He believes that, while tariff revison and currency reform were corrective of themselves their absolute success depends largely on the destruction of private monopoly and the elimination of restraints of trade(through which the price of commodities are controlled or discrimination in credit is practiced.

Since the President's address was designed to express the doctrine which the Democratic majority is expected to follow in its efforts to frame legislation to meet acknowledged evils in the business world, members of all political parties waited eagerly to learn the tenor and the scope of the President's recommendations.

The President first announced that he would address Congress separately on the question when he read his annual message December 2. He began work on the document while at Pass Christian, Miss., recently, bringing back to Washington a rough draft of it, which, however underwent little change after conferences with leaders in Congress and members of his cabinet. The speech was about the same length as the annual message, and consistent with President Wilson's record for brevity in official communication to Congress.

Tickets for every available seat in the galleries of the House were exhausted long before the hour of delivery of the message. The families of the President and Vice President and their friends heard the address from tt executive gallery many members of the diplomatic corps were in the diplomatic gallery, and cabinet officers and former members of Congress had seats on the floor of the House, to which they are entitled.

President Wilson left the White House at 12.10 o'clock. Both the House and Senate met at noon and recessed while the Senators, two by two, filed over to the hall of the House for the President's address.

The House galleries were packed Mrs. Wilson and others of the family occupied places, while the diplomatic corps was well represented and the floor was crowded with various government officials. A joint committee met the President in Speaker Clark's office, to conduct him to the rostrum.

The President arrived at the capitol at 12:25. Both houses were assembled and waiting for his appearance. The President was ushered into the crowded chamber at 12:26, while the audience rose and gave him prolonged applause and cheers. He took his place at the clerk's desk and began reading promptly at 12:30 o'clock. His

TWO AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

For Senatorial Districts and Biennial Legislative Sessions.

Many Bills Referred to Committees, But Few Coming Out.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 20—New matter is being introduced in the legislature in large amounts and referred to committees, but little is coming out of these bodies for action, and as usual it is stacking up against the period when time will be brief for careful consideration. Two constitutional amendments were proposed today, but both were of Democratic origin and so there will be no need of giving them deep study if the usual policy of the majority is followed. One would divide the state into 30 senatorial districts and the other provides for biennial sessions of the legislature. The annual appropriation bill in the house went to the finance committee It is the same as recommended by the general treasurer.

Senator Munroe of Providence introduced an amendment to the constitution, providing for the division of the state into 30 senatorial districts. Committee on special legislation.

Senator McKenna of Cumberland introduced a constitutional amendment which would provide for biennial sessions of the legislature. Committee on special legislation.

Senator Pierce of Cranston introduced a resolution memorializing Congress in favor of an increase in railroad rates. Judiciary committee.

Senator Arnold of Coventry introduced a resolution appropriating $1,500 for the extermination of the gypsy moth. Finance committee.

Senator Bennett of Woonsocket introduced an amendment to the pure food and drug act, providing for paying the commissioners $1,200 a year. The commissioners have been serving without pay. Judiciary committee.

He also introduced an act amending the law relative to the state auditor, to provide for paying the legislators their $5 a day monthly. This would enable the members to receive their pay if the school teachers and others have ti wait. Judiciary committee.

In the house Mr. Tew of West Warwick introduced an act relative to the importation of milk into the state. Agriculture committee.

Mr. Troy of Providence introduced an act amending the tuberculin test of cattle and asked immediate consideration, saying it was the same which passed the house last year. Mr. Sumner objected and it went to the committee on agriculture.

Mr. Aiello offered a resolution objecting to protesting against the educational clause in the immigration bill. Immediate consideration was asked but objection was made because it was the same as a resolution offered by Mr. Giannotti.

Mr. Saunders of Providence introduced a resolution providing for the examination of the accounts and conduct of the clerk of the Eighth District court, in Cranston. Immediate consideration was requested, but Mr. Sumner objected and it went to the committee on finance.

Mr. Bashaw of Providence introduced an act providing that the Board of Control and Supply may sell ice to the needy public. Judiciary committee.

Mr. Eaton of Providence introduced a resolution appropriating $40,000 for the use of the State House Commission. Finance committee.

Mr. West of Providence introduced an act to abolish the Providence police commission and make it a one-headed commission. Judiciary committee.

Mr. Baldwin of Providence introduced an act which calls for the labeling of all renovated butter. Judiciary committee.

Mr. Lussier of Woonsocket, for the judiciary committee, reported the annual apropriation bill, which in turn was referred to the finance committee.

The fisheries committee's request for a clerk was referred to the finance committee.

CONGRESSMAN KNOCKS DOWN AN ATTORNEY.

Johnson of Kentucky Then Rushes Off to Find Revolver

Attack Following Charge of False Statements Breaks Up Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A first fight between Representative Johnson of Kentucky and John R. Shields, a Washington attorney, broke up a meeting today of the House Committee on District of Columbia. After the two men had clashed and several blows were struck, Representative Johnson broke away, shouting: "Get me my pistol. I'll kill him."

Mr. Shields was knocked down before clerks of the committee with several spectators could quiet the two combatants. Fred Allen and Samuel Eskew, clerks, tried to hold the Kentuckian, but he broke away from them and dashed off for his private room, shouting for his revolver. A dozen men were in the room when Johnson started away, but his demand for firearms soon emptied the office. When he returned only the clerks remained. The Kentuckian berated them for their interference and the incident closed.

The clash between the two men followed a hearing on a bill to increase the salaries of crossing policemen, whom Shields represented. Representative Johnson, he declared, had "heard that Mr. Shields had collected a large lobbyist fee" during the last Congress and that to vote the proposed increase might be "voting somebody a $4 000 or $5,000 fee.

Shield demanded an opportunity to reply to "false statements" and at that Johnson struck the lawyer a blow straight from the shoulder which caught the attorney under the eye and sent him to the floor.

Oyster and Vegetable Stew.

Cut scraped red carrots in half-inch dice to measure one pint and boil in slightly salted water until almost done. Add one pint of potatoes similarly diced, which have been parboiled for five minutes then drained. Season with salt and pepper and keep at a gentle boil until tender but unbroken, allowing the water to almost cook away. Pick over, rinse and drain three dozen small oysters. To the vegetables add a pint of white sauce (made with two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour and a pint of milk with salt and pepper); when beginning to simmer add oysters and continue cooking until they plump and ruffle. Add one tablespoonful chopped parsley and serve at once.

Flank Steak With Tomatoes.

From a good sized flank steak trim off any bits of adherent gristle, score well on both sides with a sharp knife and rub thoroughly with salt, pepper and a cut clove of garlic. In a braising or covered dripping pan put a layer of sliced onions and carrots and on this lay the meat sprinkling the top with two tablespoonfuls of chopped suet. Pour round it half a can of thick tomato soup or a well seasoned tomato sauce. Cover and cook in a moderate oven for two hours and a half. Serve with the sauce slightly thinned; if nearly evaporated in cooking, use the remainder of the can of soup.

ECZEMA DISFIGURED BABY TERRIBLY

Body All Broken Out in Water Blisters. Itched So Had to Muffle Hands. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Never Troubled Since.

Ridgefield, Conn. — "My baby was cross and restless and fretted night and day. One morning I discovered that her body was all broken out in small water blisters and I was told she had the eczema the worst way. The eruption first looked like little water blisters, then it turned so it looked like a piece of raw meat. It itched so badly that we had to muffle the baby's hands to protect it spreading all over her face. It certainly disfigured her terribly and she could not rest at night. Her clothing was very irritating to the body and when it was removed her body was raw. We had her treated for about two months when it spread all over her body, face and head and seemed to grow worse all the time.

"I took good warm water and Cuticura Soap and lathered it all over her and allowed it to dry on and then when it was thoroughly dry I applied the Cuticura Ointment. In about a week I could see a big change and in three weeks you never would have known she ever had eczema and she never has been troubled since." (Signed) Mrs. George Coe, Nov. 20, 1912.

A single cake of Cuticura Soap (25c.) and box of Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are often sufficient when all else has failed. Sold throughout the world. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

RUNNING THE STATE IN DEBT

It looks as though the legislature would never learn that they cannot appropriate as much in excess of the probable revenue as they please Receipts for the state treasury have run behind the appropriations for the first half of the year and putting the state in debt without the slightest evidence of impairment and this thing practically all the time is not creditable to the state and certainly not to those responsible for the condition At present the general court lacks $161,000 of enough to pay all the expenses of the state government for the current fiscal year all appropriations but a few small ones have been made at the present session of the legislature there will be a deficit of $19,107 To meet this and there is need of a special deficiency bill and such a measure has been introduced in the house It seems to pass appropriations for one year and do so will not help matters with the bills involved, but it is hoped enough the members of the legislature who vote for such extravagances are not doing so for personal behalf

Some such thing is the overdraft made by the state of Illinois over the state receipts which by school funds for the year until was in low and the general treasurer was compelled to allow them to remain in arrears Here in Newport the taxpayers were particularly fortunate in having a good friend come forward and advance the money needed to make up their salaries or they would have been obliged to wait for their pay some weeks If no longer The teachers in some other places who were not so lucky were compelled to wait for the money due them This is but one phase of the financial situation caused by the policy often adopted in recent years of voting for appropriations without considering the ability of the state to pay the bills from the revenue available for the year

In view of this condition it is pertinent to ask if the legislature at the present session will do the same thing it did last year and exceed the estimate of possible income by appropriating more money than can possibly be raised if such is the case Will the members from this city be guilty of playing politics with the appropriation bills without taking those who pay the taxes into consideration Will they vote for appropriations regardless of the ability of the state to pay the bills from the revenue available for the year

Will they vote for some appropriations and refuse others Will they vote for anything, it seems about as they are asked to when their representatives in the legislature Will the taxpayers of this city and state be compelled to pay the bills for the present session of the legislature when they are not necessary and which will come out of the pockets of the taxpayers when they are presented for payment Will the members from this city be guilty of playing politics with the appropriation bills without taking those who pay the taxes into consideration Will they vote for some appropriations and refuse others Will they vote for anything, it seems about as they are asked to when their representatives in the legislature Will the taxpayers of this city and state be compelled to pay the bills for the present session of the legislature when they are not necessary and which will come out of the pockets of the taxpayers when they are presented for payment

[illegible] the attention of the members of the legislature to the fact that the state is in debt and that the people of the state are not in favor of increasing the taxes to meet the deficiency

[illegible] the state of New Mexico has a bill which is before the legislature of that state to appropriate $5,000 to pay the expenses of a delegation to the national irrigation congress which is to be held in Albuquerque in November The bill has been passed by the house and is now before the senate The bill is expected to pass the latter body without any trouble and will be signed by the governor as soon as it reaches his desk

RUNNING THE STATE IN DEBT.

It does seem as though the legislators will never learn that they commit a grave error when they make appropriations far in excess of the probable or even possible receipts for the state treasury. Every year the members take this course of draining the treasury and putting the state in debt without the slightest evidence of compunction, and it is time this practice ended, for it is not creditable to the state and certainly not to those responsible for the condition. At present the general treasurer lacks $161,229 of being able to pay all the expenses of the state government for last year, and if all the appropriations had been used which were made at the last session of the legislature there would have been a deficit of $196,197. To meet this condition there is need of a general deficiency bill, and such a measure has been introduced in the house. It is easy to pass appropriations when those who do so will not be obliged to meet the bills involved, but it is not honest even though the members of the legislature who vote for these expenditures are not doing so on their own personal behalf.

One result of the overdraft made last year was felt all over the state recently, when the school funds for the cities and towns ran low and the general treasurer was compelled to allow them to remain in arrears. Here in Newport the teachers were particularly fortunate in having a good friend come forward and advance the money needed to make up their salaries, or they would have been obliged to wait for their pay some weeks, if not longer. The teachers in some other places, who were not so lucky, were compelled to wait for the money due them. This is but one phase of the embarrassing situation caused by the policy so often adopted in recent years, of voting for appropriations without questioning the ability of the state to pay the bills from the revenue available for the year.

In view of this condition it is pertinent to ask if the legislators at the present session will do the same thing they did last year, and exceed the state's possible income by appropriating more money than can possibly be received from available sources. Will the members from this city be guilty of this wrong policy again? Will the people of the state permit this indefinitely without rebuking those who commit the act? Will the voters of this city have anything to say about this matter when their representatives are candidates again? Will the teachers be pleased to have the same conditions arise another year? Can public-spirited citizens be expected repeatedly to play the part of Good Samaritan when the state treasury runs dry and money must be had, or women and others will suffer unless they assume that generous role again?

These are proper and pertinent questions, and now is the time to urge them upon the attention of the men who represent the people in the legislature. It is too late after the appropriations have been made. Then the only thing to do is to make the best of a bad situation and vote more money to pay the debts incurred during the preceding year. Now something can be done perhaps to influence the members to be more economical with the money of the state. It is a bad practice for an individual to run into debt, and worse in a way for a body of men to plunge the state in debt, and thereby bring suffering, annoyance or inconvenience upon some of those who need the money which the state is unable to pay. Some steps should be taken to impress upon the legislators the idea that the people will not sanction such a course this year, and if they will not heed such protests against extravagance with the state's money the governor should veto every appropriation in excess of the actual revenue.

CHARTERS AND VOTERS.

Boston's recent mayoralty election shows how little political improvement depends upon charters and ballots and systems of voting and how much it depends upon the interest of the voters, or of those who ought to vote. Massachusetts has a ballot especially designed to make rulings easy for the political independents, the non-partisans, the people who desire good government and care little or nothing about party names and organizations. The Boston charter was laboriously constructed about five years ago for the purpose of making it easier to obtain good government and to break up machines and defeat bosses. The result of all this legislation is that Fitzgerald was elected four years ago and now Curley has been elected.

Furthermore, Boston is probably larger than it was four years ago, and yet the vote cast was nearly 15,000 smaller. Thirty thousand men did not take the trouble to vote, or could not on account of the cold. The middle of January in Boston is a poor time to hold an election if a full vote is desired. Still, in Philadelphia, which held its election early in November, about 45,000 registered men did not vote. There is no explanation except that so many voters do not care much one way or the other. These are not the followers of bosses and machines; they pretty generally come out.

Four years ago Fitzgerald's majority was very small. Hibbard was accused of running only to throw the election against Storrow, and his candidacy had that effect. A large part of the Republicans and independents this time did not care which of the two Democrats was elected; if they had cared they could have elected Kenny. Curley ran about 4,000 behind Fitzgerald, but Kenny was 8,000 behind Storrow. All we can say about it is that Curley is a good enough candidate for a large part of the voters, and that 30,000 who ought to have voted against him did not do it, and that no kind of ballot or charter can be trusted to ensure good government.

COMPETITION IN CONTRACTS.

Of course there are serious objections to the undertaking of the government to make armor. Goverment work is rarely done so economically as private work or that by contractors, the initial investment would be large, and if the plant were used only a few months in each year it would be far from economical.

Yet how is the government to secure the benefit of competition, and must it abandon all hope of competition and be content to pay whatever is demanded? Some 16 years ago it threatened to build an armor mill, and at once a very large reduction was made in the price of plate. So far Secretary Daniels has not succeeded in repeating this experience, but he did have the bids for heavy armor reduced slightly, and he has secured actual competitions in sheats, in light armor or forgings, and now in projectiles.

He has awarded a contract for projectiles at a saving compared with last year's prices of more than a million dollars, or more than one third of the cost last year. One third is a good deal of an item in the prices of steel used by the navy. The Secretary obtained this by securing really competitive bids. The Navy Department ought to have the benefit of competitive prices, whether there be actual competition or it be merely potential.

Its guns and explosives it makes in part and buys from private manufacturers in part. The demands of the manufacturers can never go beyond the cost in the government's own shops. Ships are generally built by contract. Secretary Daniels is anxious to have some of the yards not now so equipped fitted for building, but the experience of the department has been uniformly that private contractors build more cheaply. They have competition among themselves and the potential competition of the government. The Navy Department ought to be able to obtain armor for reasonable prices without going into the business itself, and would if the three concerns which can make armor would come to terms with the government.

The Democrats in Congress have found a new way of spending the public money. They propose an appropriation of $25,000,000 a year, to be distributed about the country for road construction, each state receiving a portion based on the rural delivery routes and post roads. Under this proposed appropriation, Rhode Island would receive a maximum sum of $58,750 a year, and the apportionments to the other New England states would be: Connecticut, $218,750; Maine, $235,750; Massachusetts, $538,750; New Hampshire, $125,000, and Vermont, $138,750. The bill is expected to strike a popular chord among the Congressmen, especially those who have been unable to secure all the river and harbor improvements and public buildings they desire in their districts.

A report comes from Mexico that General Huerta has agreed tentatively to resign the presidency in favor of a commission of prominent Mexicans in the hope of bringing about peace. There have been so many reports of this kind, none of them amounting to anything, that the world will wait until Huerta actually resigns before being satisfied. It is becoming more and more evident that the one thing which will soonest bring about peace in Mexico is his resignation, and that it cannot come too quickly.

The decision on the part of the Board of Trade to go into the recruiting business and increase the organizaton to numbers which will make it a real power, in fact as well as in name, promises success. The committee which has been out for recruits has a large number of names to propose, and these will be a decided acquisition to the present limited membership. Even now the field has not been exhausted and it is believed that many more can be secured for the next meeting, when it is assured that the board is to become really a body representative of Newport's business interests.

More than $8,878,000 was invested in new amusement buildings in Greater New York in 1913, and $10,357,000 in 1912, the falling off being almost entirely due to a much smaller amount expended in the Bronx. One would think, from the number of theatres and the report of poor business that it was undesirable to build more in the metropolis.

The action of the Woonsocket police commission, following that of Mayor Boyle of this city, in prohibiting the performance of "Damaged Goods" in the local theatres, shows that at least two places in Rhode Island have some consideration for decency and the protection of youth against plays of this sort. It is well.

Here is a good weather item, even if it is not seasonable. Midsummer heat for 10 days has brought out such numbers of grasshoppers in Hamilton county, Texas, that the state department of agriculture has been asked to assist in preventing the insects from ravaging crops.

Why not have Fire Commissioner Cole address the Representative Council, that it may have up-to-date ideas before it tackles the fire department problem? The members might profitably spend an evening listening and propounding questions to him.

The icemen, cutting ice while the cold weather lasts, are in some respects like the farmers, who make hay while the sun shines. They take advantage of their opportunities.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The icehouses at "Sunnyfields Farm" and "Black Point Farm" have both been filled with good ice. Mr. Charles Grinnell did not begin to cut until Monday, his pond having springs in it which prevent its freezing early, but he has cut 150 tons of clear ice, 8½ inches thick. Mr. William Henry Tallman began to cut today, Mr. Grinnell supplies ice for Portsmouth people above Quaker hill toward Middletown, and Mr. Tallman below Quaker hill to Tiverton. Manager Bone of "Sandy Point Farm" has filled his house with ice 9 inches thick.

Miss Lillian Wheeler leaves for New York this afternoon, where she will be guest of Mrs. George Verill, formerly Miss Myrtalle Barker of Newport, Wednesday. Then she will go to Philadelphia to visit her sister, Miss Harriet Wheeler, at the Penn Chapter School.

Mr. and Mrs. Denhett and family, who have been visiting relatives in New York, are to return Wednesday.

A silo on "Lemont Farm" was blown flat in the storm last week.

Father Manuel, the Portuguese priest at St. Anthony's, has made arrangements with the teachers at the Gibbs and Vaucluse schools to have a short session for the pupils who do not attend Sunday school, after school one day in each week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Clarke have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John H. Brown in Providence. Their son, Allston, is guest during their absence of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Faulkner on Power street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hedges of Olneyville have returned home, after spending a week with their nephew, Mr. D. A. Sullivan, and family.

The skating still continues excellent.

Short Session of the Town Council and Court of Probate.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

There was a small attendance at the monthly session of the town council, held at the town hall Monday afternoon. It required less than three hours to consider and determine the matters presented, and the Council adjourned soon after 4 o'clock. Contrary to the experience of former years, there were no accounts for snowelling snow to examine, but a number of other accounts were allowed and ordered paid from the town treasury, including the following:

For highway repairs—Walter S. Barker, $36.26; James W. Barker, ordinary repairs, $36.80; work on Second and First Beach avenue, to connect with the approach to the new bridge $54.50; Joseph A. Peckham, ordinary repairs, $147.18; additional work on new roadbed in Third Beach road, $66.33; Elisha A. Peckham, work on bridges, $7.50; Peckham Brothers Company, crushed stone for district No. 1, $3.09.

Mercury Publishing Company, printing notices for assessors, for posting, $2; propositions about Mitchell's lane, voted on, 75 lists of voters, $25; 700 tax books, $235; T. T. Pitman Corporation advertising re-ward, $4.38; Bay State Street Railway Company, electric light, $2; William K. Covell, cleaning stove, stovepipe, etc. in office of town clerk, $7.80; Providence Telephone Company, telephone exchange service in office of town clerk,$4.87; in office of town sergeant, five months, $5.49; at town hall, $1.43; Edward S. Peckham, coal for heating office of town clerk, $16.86; for heating town hall, $17; Jeannette Goffe, clerical work in office of town clerk for five weeks, $50; accounts for the relief and burial of the poor, $134; Thomas G. Ward, bounty due for killing 42 skunks, $21.

In court of probate the petition of Lewis L. Simmons, guardian of the person and estate of Minnie A. Johnson, for permission to sell her house and land on Aquidneck avenue, was granted. If sold at private sale, price restricted to not less than $2500. Guardian required to give bond in the sum of $2500, with the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company of Baltimore as surety, to duly apply and account for proceeds of sale.

The petition of Henry Bedlow and Harriette Hall Morris, for the appointment of appraisers to appraise the real estate in Rhode Island formerly vesting in Alice P. Mayer, was continued to the third Monday in February.

The sixth account of Harriet B. Chase, guardian of Sarah C. Coggeshall, was referred to the third Monday in February, with an order of notice.

David B. Peabody executor of the will of Annie T. Peckham, presented his first and final account with her estate for allowance and it was referred to February 16 for examination, and notice thereof directed to be given.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Snow or rain tonight and Wednesday; colder Wednesday; increasing northerly winds.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Forecast for southern New England—Snow or rain tonight and Wednesday; colder Wednesday; increasing northerly winds.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Forecast for northern New England—Snow tonight and Wednesday; probably heavy snow in New Hampshire and Vermont; colder tonight in northern Vermont; colder Wednesday, except in eastern Maine; brisk northerly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Unsettled weather prevails in all portions of the country, except the extreme Southwest, the southern plateau district, middle Rocky mountains and the eastern slope. Light snow has fallen during the night in New England, New York state, and the Lake region, and light rains in the Ohio valley and on the northern Pacific slope. The western depression has moved southeastward rather slowly and is central this morning at Grand Rapids, Mich., showing little energy and causing but little precipitation. The pressure has risen considerably over Ontario, causing low temperatures along the northern border, in New England the lowest last night was 2 degrees at Greenville, Maine. A high pressure area appears in the Northwest and another on the middle Pacific slope. In New York at 8 a.m. the temperature was 35, Boston 31, Washington 38, Jacksonville 60, New Orleans 64, St. Louis 38, Chicago 38, St. Paul 28, Bismarck 8, Des Moines 36, Kansas City 38, Denver 30, Salt Lake City 28, San Francisco 46 and Portland, Oregon, 42.

THE ART OF LISTENING.

Mr. Geer of Fall River May Give Series of Music Lectures in Newport.

An effort is being made to have Mr. E. Harold Geer A. M., Mus. B., organist of the First Congregational Church, Fall River, come to Newport for a series of 12 lectures on "The Art of Listening." Mr. Geer has given these in various cities and is highly commended by prominent professors of music in the colleges of the country.

His course includes 25 lectures but the Newport series, if arranged, will be limited to 12, as follows: "The Content of Music," "The Formal Structure," "The Theme with Variations," "The Simple Rondo Forms," "The Sonata Forms," "The Higher Rondo Forms," "The Cyclic Forms," "The Polyphonic Forms," "Preludes and Fugues," "Vocal Music—Opera" and "Oratorios and Cantatas, Songs," "The Emotional Element in Music," and "Representative Music," the last four in two lectures. The lectures are illustrated. Miss Marian G. Dowling is endeavoring to secure sufficient subscriptions to assure the course, and it is believed that there are enough music-loving people in Newport, to guarantee its success.

M. Andre Gedalge, professor of counterpoint in the Conservatoire National de Musique, Paris, says of Mr. Geer: "I consider him an artist of very great worth, an excellent executant and musically very gifted. * * * If he is willing to place his technical knowledge at the service of others, given his qualifications, Mr. Geer will be a remarkable teacher."

A CHILD LABOR DAY.

Sunday, January 25, Recommended for Observance.

In common with cities throughout the country an effort is being made to have in Newport an observance of what is to be known as Child Labor day. This is made at the urgent request of Mr. Owen R. Lovejoy of New York and his recommendation is that it be Sunday, January 25. The pastors of the various churches have been asked to make the observance general and to give a sermon or an address on the subject. Miss Ruth B. Franklin has been asked to aid in the arrangements for the days' observance, and has taken steps to have the attention of all the clergymen of Newport drawn to the matter.

HELD FOR AN ASSAULT.

There was a fracas in Mercury hall Sunday night, in consequence of which Sam Berman was before the court this morning on a charge of assault. He pleaded not guilty and furnished bail for appearance January 30. The charge is that after a wordy argument after the meeting Sam smote Fischer David "hip and thigh," and it is even charged that before coming into close enough range to smite with his fist he threw the marble top of one of the stations at David. However, it will all come out in the trial, which will evidently be held before Judge Baker. David is in the care of a doctor, with contusions and abrasions.

There is a report of a scrap on De Blois street Sunday night, with several marks on buildings and street lamp posts to show that things were lying which were harder than snowballs.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The time line of 70 days fixed in the contract placed by the town with the Lopez Company of Stonington, Conn., for the installation of the new fire alarm system, expires Friday and as nothing has yet been done it will not be in on time. The contract carries a penalty clause and as the motors come from the Westinghouse Company, which others have been labor troubles, this is probably the cause of the delay, and the council will doubtless grant an extention of time if asked to do so.

At the Bayside Club Monday evening the third round in the second series of whist tournaments was played. Team No. 3, winning by a good margin, but not quite enough, to take it from last place. The scores: No. 1, won 51, total 173; No. 2, won 45, total 164; No. 3, won 72, total 163.

Mrs. Wilmarding of New York was a visitor at her place at Beavertail Monday.

The soft weather and the light easterly wind this morning broke up the ice in the lower end of Dutch Island harbor and carried it to sea.

The trawl fishermen have made one or two good catches of cod in the west bay, but on the whole the fish do not seem to be plentiful.

The Fabre liner was taken to Providence Sunday morning by Pilot King. Owing to the high wind he did not board the steamship until she was well within the harbor.

KNOX MEDALS AWARDED.

Sons of the Revolution Honor Federal and State Troops and Seamen.

Knox trophies and medals, offered by the Sons of the Revolution of Massachusetts to federal and state troops and seamen for efficiency in gunnery, were awarded at the annual meeting of the organization. The prizes are in memory of General Henry Knox of revolutionary fame and are to be given annually.

The trophy for the company of United States heavy artillery attaining the highest efficiency was awarded jointly to Companies Sixty-three and One Hundred and Forty-three of the coast artillery. It was for excellence in mortar firing in Hawaii.

For the highest rating in the school of artillery fire at Fort Sill, Okla., a medal was awarded to Sergeant Major Basil Corless of the Sixth company of field artillery.

For excellence in gunnery practice on battleships, a trophy went to the Utah and was received by Captain W. H. Howard. The trophy for Massachusetts coast artillery was won by the Seventh company, stationed in Boston.

ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY.

Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt Blamed by Heirs of Fair Estate.

Mrs. Theresa A. Oelrichs, widow of Herman Oelrichs, and Mrs. Virginia Fair Vanderbilt, wife of William K. Vanderbilt, must answer charges of fraud and conspiracy made against them by Theodore W. and George Leffler and Mrs. Mabel C. Towle, according to the appellate division of the supreme court of New York. The court upholds the right of the Leflers and Mrs. Towle to file an amended complaint containing the fraud and conspiracy charges in their suit to recover an interest, estimated at $492,000, in the $10,000,000 estate left by Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fair—brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt—who were killed in a motor-car accident near Paris, France, in 1902.

The Leflers and Mrs. Towle, who are nephews and a niece of Mrs. Fair, allege that the courts were deceived as to the residence of the Fairs, which they assert was in New York, and not in California, where the probate proceedings under which the property was distributed were held.

NEW NAVY RADIO STATION.

Plant Near San Diego to Communicate with Panama and Hawaii.

A great navy radio station, capable of carrying on communication with Panama, Hawaii and the Atlantic coast, will be built by the Navy Department near San Diego, Cal.

The erection of the station was authorized by Congress in 1912. In September last a special board of naval officers investigated sites on the Pacific coast, chiefly around Los Angeles and San Diego. Finally a site on La Thollas Heights, about four miles east of San Diego and 11 miles from the coast, was selected. It embraces 73½ acres and has an elevation of about 150 feet. The property will cost the government about $15,000. The selection has been approved by the Navy Department and the purchase will be made forthwith.

WILD GEESE GOING SOUTH.

With the ice harvest well along and January more than half gone, and even some thoughts of spring bobbing up, a flock of wild geese was seen and heard Sunday night, passing south. This is taken to mean that this particular flock did not care to go too far south early in the season, but waited for real winter to come. Another flock is reported going south about a week ago. These signs are not by the weather man but they make the man who must pay for coal sit up and take notice. Wild geese are supposed to know something about cold weather.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The St. Joseph's Holy Name Society at its meeting Monday evening elected the following officers for the year:

President—Joseph Menzlee.
Vice President—John J. Conron.
Secretary—Francis J. Harrington.
Chaplain and Treasurer—Rev. John F. McLaughlin.

Rev. Edward A. Higney, pastor of the church, made an interesting address.

TO BOOST THE MOOSE TRIP.

A large turn-out of dancers is expected Wednesday evening by the "On to Haverhill" committee of Lands End Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, at their first social of the season in Realty hall. The object of this and other entertainments to be held during the winter months is to encourage the members to "boost" the "On to Haverhill" trip, where the next Moose convention will be held during the coming summer, and the Newport delegation will be represented by its drill squad in the competitive prize drill against the other lodges throughout the country.

NO HADDOCK, BUT PLENTY OF COD.

The local fishermen are still doing well, but the haddock are missing. They appear to have taken a course this winter which cuts out Newport waters, and reports from the coast of Nova Scotia say there are more haddock off there than ever before.

Still the local fishermen would like to see a few. Cod, however, have not passed by these waters. Monday at Tallman & Mack's the Little Addie, Captain Will Luth, landed 2700 pounds; the Alice, Captain Henry Monsen, 4,000; the Champion Brothers 500, the Wood and Mack, Captain Kent 1,000 and the Catspaw, Lewis Brothers 700. At C. B. Anderson's the T. B. Congdon had 3,500, the Priscilla, Captain Jim Kelley, 2,700, and the T. W. Lawson 800.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Deputy Sheriff Wilcox has returned from Block Island.

—Miss Harriet Lawton was guest of Miss Lottie Cully of Fall River Sunday.

—The sub-committee on schools will meet at the office of the School Committee Friday evening.

—At 7:29 Monday evening a still alarm called Chemical 1 and Hose 2 to a grass fire on the railroad track.

—Mr. William Thaw, who with Steve MacGordon was here in a flying boat last summer, is now at Palm Beach, Fla.

—Mr. W. H. Huntington, who has been at the naval hospital for an operation, has so far recovered as to be able to be out and greet his friends.

—The amateur inspectors had a job on their hands this afternoon, when a new plate glass was put in the south window of the Century Store.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Ward closed their cottage on Oakwood Terrace today and left for Washington, to spend the remainder of the winter.

—Mr. William Williams had his first court trial today in the district court, Mr. Harvey being the opposing counsel. It was a civil case and was tried in a civil manner.

—The work of construction of the parsonage for the Second Baptist Church on Bull street, has begun. The foundation was put in some days ago; the carpenters have now made a start.

—The new heater for the First Methodist Episcopal Church has reached Newport, is in the building, and it is expected that it will be connected with the radiators this afternoon.

—The Red Men's Club is to give a social in Masonic hall February 16. This is a new departure for the club in recent years, but from the way tickets are being disposed of its success is assured.

—At a special meeting of the Newport Natural History Society Monday evening, a committee consisting of Joseph G. Parmenter and T. T. Pitman was appointed to submit a minute in regard to the death of Captain Joseph P. Cotton, who was for many years an active member and an officer of the society.

—John Reardon, at his boatshop on Long wharf, is fitting out for the Newport Coal Company the 45-foot launch, it purchased from the builder at Fort Adams. A 16-horse-power motor is being installed and a cabin built, so that men can be carried around where the company has work to do. The new launch will be able to do some towing, which is often found necessary. He also has two boats from Providence One, a carboat is having an engine installed, and a well built one, a sloop, is being generally overhauled.

MRS. THOMPSON TESTIFIES.

Daughter of J. J. Van Alen May Carry Case to Court of Customs Appeals.

Mrs. May Van Alen Thompson, wife of Griswold A. Thompson, and daughter of James J. Van Alen, appeared Monday before Byron S. Waite, general appraiser in New York, to testify in connection with her differences with the customs authorities.

James F. Curtis, formerly Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, represented Mrs. Thompson, and under his questioning she told of the places in which she has lived. Mrs. Thompson stated that she was born in New York, was taken to England when six months old, lived there continuously for 10 years and after that made frequent visits to the United States. During the past three years she said, she came here annually for the Newport season, but had spent the rest of the year at her mother's estate, "Rushton Hall," Northamptonshire, England. Mrs. Thompson stated that she was married to Mr. Thompson in England in September. Mr. Thompson testified that he is a resident of New York.

The dispute involves the question of whether Mrs. Thompson shall pay duty on a large trousseau and a quantity of personal effects which she brought to this country on her arrival in October. She sailed by way of Boston on board one of the White Star line. The customs inspector at that port held up 25 trunks. It is said that the value of their contents was about $40,000.

Mrs. Thompson's contention is that she is a non-resident and as such is entitled to bring in her personal effects without payment of duties. The government asserts that, by marriage to an American, Mrs. Thompson became a resident of this country. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson was celebrated in England and not in America. It is contended that this fact places a different light on the case. Mrs. Thompson appealed from the customs decision to the Board of General Appraisers.

After hearing the testimony the board gave counsel a week in which to submit briefs. It is expected that Mrs. Thompson will carry the case to the court of customs appeals, the final arbiter in such disputes, if the decision is against her.

MAKE FEATURE JUMP.

Cyclones Shake Last Place by Winning Recreation League Events.

The Cyclones made the feature jump in the Recreation League at the Young Men's Christian Association since the series started, won five of its six contests, and as a result shook last place, pasing the fourth position also for a berth in third place. Captain Newton Holmes hopes his team will be among the leaders before the finish, and as the locomotive races were those which the Cyclone proved most efficient in the members of that team are much in favor of continuing those contests.

The Whirlwinds the leaders, also did well, winning four of five contests, and are at present the holders of the "cellar" championship. The present standing of the league shows that the Whirlwinds are the first team to pass the century mark in scoring being first with 110 points, while the Monsoons are second with 85. The Cyclones have a slight lead on the Hurricanes in the race for third place, the Cyclones having 67½ and the Hurricanes 64, while the Tornadoes have not scored a point for nearly a month and are last with 49½.

Although most of the various teams' rosters are filled there are still two which could handle one or two more men. The new members in the league Monday night were Charles Johnson, who went to the Monsoons while E. Roy Griffith registered with the Whirlwinds, the present league leaders. B. Bobuslav has joined the Tornadoes.

The summary of the events is as follows;

Tugs-of-war—Whirlwinds beat Cyclones. Cyclones beat Hurricanes Whirlwinds beat Monsoons, Hurricanes defeated Tornadoes.

Locomotive races—Cyclones defeated Tornadoes, Hurricanes won over Whirlwinds, Monsoons conquered Hurricanes Cyclones triumphed over Tornadoes for the second time, Cyclones hung the Indian sign on Monsoons, Whirlwinds trimmed Hurricanes.

WINTER CONDITIONS.

Trying Hard to Snow and the Ice Cutters Hard at Work.

The weather has taken several dabs at snowing since the News last went to press. It seemed to be snowing pretty fair when people left the Elks' ball Monday night, or this morning. It started about 11:30 and came down in big flakes, but it was like all the other snowstorms this season—just a try-out. There have been several trials today. The wind has come around to the northeast, and it looks as if it might snow if the weather is not too mild.

The ice cutters are still hustling all along the line. Monday night the work shut down at Lily pond at 6 o'clock, because of a shift of the gallery, but at Green End continued to the usual time. This was by the Newport Ice Company, the others are also cutting right along. Out in Tiverton the mill pond has been cut over once and they are waiting for it to freeze again.

DEAD FROM ASPHYXIATION.

Daughter of Rev. Frank Rector Found in Pawtucket Home.

Mrs Vera Studley, daughter of Rev. Frank Rector, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pawtucket and formerly of the old Second Baptist Church of this city, and her four-years-old son, Rector Kenneth Studley, were found dead from asphyxiation at their home in Pawtucket this morning. When a servant went to call Mrs. Studley she found the doors and windows tightly closed and gas escaping from all the burners in the room. Mrs. Studley had been in ill health for some time. Mrs. Studley was 30 years old. Her husband, Nathan H. Studley, is a traveling dry goods salesman, and was not at home.

THE ART OF LISTENING.

Mr. Geer of Fall River May Give Series of Music Lectures in Newport.

An effort is being made to have Mr. E. Harold Geer A. M., Mus. B., organist of the First Congregational Church, Fall River, come to Newport for a series of 12 lectures on "The Art of Listening." Mr. Geer has given these in various cities and is highly commended by prominent professors of music in the colleges of the country.

His course includes 25 lectures but the Newport series, it arranged, will be limited to 12, as follows: "The Content of Music," "The Formal Structure," "The Theme with Variations," "The Simple Rondo Forms," "The Sonata Forms," "The Higher Rondo Forms," "The Cyclic Forms," "The Polyphonic Forms," "Preludes and Fugues," "Vocal Music—Opera" and "Oratorios and Cantatas, Songs;" "The Emotional Element in Music" and "Representative Music," the last four in two lectures. The lectures are illustrated. Miss Marian G. Dowling is endeavoring to secure sufficient subscriptions to assure the course, and it is believed that there are enough music-loving people in Newport, to guarantee its success.

M. Andre Gedalge, professor of counterpoint in the Conservatoire National de Musique, Paris, says of Mr. Geer: "I consider him an artist of very great worth, an excellent executant and musically very gifted. * * * If he is willing to place his technical knowledge at the service of others, given his qualifications, Mr. Geer will be a remarkable teacher."

A CHILD LABOR DAY.

Sunday, January 25, Recommended for Observance.

In common with cities throughout the country an effort is being made to have in Newport an observance of what is to be known as Child Labor day. This is made at the urgent request of Mr. Owen R. Lovejoy of New York and the recommendation is that it be Sunday, January 25. The pastors of the various churches have been asked to make the observance general and to give a sermon or an address on the subject. Miss Ruth B. Franklin has been asked to aid in the arrangements for the days' observance, and has taken steps to have the attention of all the clergymen of Newport drawn to the matter.

HELD FOR AN ASSAULT.

There was a fracas in Mercury hall Sunday night, in consequence of which Sam Berman was before the court this morning on a charge of assault. He pleaded not guilty and furnished bail for appearance January 30. The charge is that after a wordy argument after the meeting Sam smote Fischer David "hip and thigh," and it is even charged that before coming into close enough range to smite with his fist he threw the marble top of one of the stations at David. However, it will all come out in the trial, which will evidently be held before Judge Baker. David is in the care of a doctor, with contusions and abrasions.

There is a report of a scrap on De Blois street Sunday night, with several marks on buildings and street lamp posts to show that things were doing which were harder than snowballs.

JAMESTOWN.

(Regular correspondence of the News.)

The time line of 70 days fixed in the contract placed by the town with the Lopez Company of Stonington, Conn., for the installation of the new fire alarm system, expires Friday and as nothing has yet been done it will not be in on time. The contract carries a strike clause and as the motors come from the Westinghouse Company, when others have been labor, troubles, this is probably the cause of the delay, and the council will doubtless grant an extention of time if asked to do so.

At the Bayside Club Monday evening the third round in the second series of whist tournaments was played. Team No. 3, winning by a good margin, but not quite enough, to take it from last place. The scores: No. 1, won 51, total 173; No. 2, won 45, total 164; No. 3, won 72, total 163.

Mrs. Wilmerding of New York was a visitor at her place at Beavertail Monday.

The soft weather and the light easterly wind this morning broke up the ice in the lower end of Dutch Island harbor and carried it to sea.

The trawl fishermen have made one or two good catches of cod in the west bay, but on the whole the fish do not seem to be plentiful.

The Fabre liner was taken to Providence Sunday morning by Pilot King. Owing to the high wind he did not board the steamship until she was well within the harbor.

KNOX MEDALS AWARDED.

Sons of the Revolution Honor Federal and State Troops and Seamen.

Knox trophies and medals, offered by the Sons of the Revolution of Massachusetts to federal and state troops and seamen for efficiency in gunnery, were awarded at the annual meeting of the organization. The prizes are in memory of General Henry Knox of revolutionary fame and are to be given annually.

The trophy for the company of United States heavy artillery attaining the highest efficiency was awarded jointly to Companies Sixty-three and One Hundred and Forty-three of the coast artillery. It was for excellence in mortar firing in Hawaii.

For the highest rating in the school of artillery fire at Fort Sill, Okla., a medal was awarded to Sergeant Major Basil Corless of the Sixth company of field artillery.

For excellence in gunnery practice by battleships, a trophy went to the Idaho and was received by Captain W. L. Howard. The trophy for Massachusetts coast artilery was won by the Seventh company, stationed in Boston.

ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY.

Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt Blamed by Heirs of Fair Estate.

Mrs. Theresa A. Oelrichs, widow of Herman Oelrichs, and Mrs. Virginia Fair Vanderbilt, wife of William K. Vanderbilt, must answer charges of fraud and conspiracy made against them by Theodore W. and George Lefler and Mrs. Mabel C. Towle, according to the appellate division of the supreme court of New York. The court upholds the right of the Leflers and Mrs. Towle to file an amended complaint containing the fraud and conspiracy charges in their suit to recover an interest, estimated at $492,000, in the $10,000,000 estate left by Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fair—brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt—who were killed in a motor-car accident near Paris, France, in 1902.

The Leflers and Mrs. Towle, who are nephews and a niece of Mrs. Fair, allege that the courts were deceived as to the residence of the Fairs, which they assert was in New York, and not in California, where the probate proceedings under which the property was distributed were held.

NEW NAVY RADIO STATION.

Plant Near San Diego to Communicate with Panama and Hawaii.

A great navy radio station, capable of carrying on communication with Panama, Hawaii and the Atlantic coast, will be built by the Navy Department near San Diego, Cal.

The erection of the station was authorized by Congress in 1912. In September last a special board of naval officers investigated sites on the Pacific coast, chiefly around Los Angeles and San Diego. Finally a site on La Chollas Heights, about four miles east of San Diego and 11 miles from the coast, was selected. It embraces 73½ acres and has an elevation of about 450 feet. The property will cost the government about $15,000. The selection has been approved by the Navy Department and the purchase will be made forthwith.

WILD GEESE GOING SOUTH.

With the ice harvest well along and January more than half gone, and even some thoughts of spring bobbing up, a flock of wild geese was seen and heard Sunday night, passing south. This is taken to mean that this particular flock did not care to go too far south early in the season, but waited for real winter to come. Another flock is reported going south about a week ago. These signs are not by the weather man but they make the man who must pay for coal sit up and take notice. Wild geese are supposed to know something about cold weather.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The St. Joseph's Holy Name Society at its meeting Monday evening elected the following officers for the year:

President—Joseph Menzies.
Vice President—John J. Conron.
Secretary—Francis J. Harrington.
Chaplain and Treasurer—Rev. John F. McLaughlin.

Rev. Edward A. Higney, pastor of the church, made an interesting address.

TO BOOST THE MOOSE TRIP.

A large turn-out of dancers is expected Wednesday evening by the "On to Haverhill" committee of Lands End Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, at their first social of the season in Realty hall. The object of this and other entertainments to be held during the winter months is to encourage the members to "boost" the "On to Haverhill" trip, where the next Moose convention will be held during the coming summer, and the Newport delegation will be represented by its drill squad in the competitive prize drill against the other lodges throughout the country.

NO HADDOCK, BUT PLENTY OF COD.

The local fishermen are still doing well, but the haddock are missing. They appear to have taken a course this winter which cuts out Newport waters, and reports from the coast of Nova Scotia say there are more haddock off there than ever before.

Still the local fishermen would like to see a few. Cod, however, have not passed by these waters. Monday at Tallman & Mack's the Little Addie, Captain Will Luth, landed 2,700 pounds; the Alice, Captain Henry Monsen, 4,000; the Champion Brothers 500, the Wood and Mack, Captain Kent, 1,000 and the Catspaw, Lewis Brothers 700. At C. B. Anderson's the T. B. Congdon had 3,500, the Priscilla, Captain Jim Kelley, 2,700, and the T. W. Lawson 800.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Deputy Sheriff Wilcox has returned from Block Island.

—Miss Harriet Lawton was guest of Miss Lottie Cully of Fall River Sunday.

—The sub-committee on schools will meet at the office of the School Committee Friday evening.

—At 7:39 Monday evening a still alarm called Chemical 1 and Hose 2 to a grass fire on the railroad track.

—Mr. William Thaw, who with Steve MacGordon was here in a flying boat last summer, is now at Palm Beach, Fla.

—Mr. W. H. Huntington, who has been at the naval hospital for an operation, has so far recovered as to be able to be out and greet his friends.

—The amateur inspectors had a job on their hands this afternoon, when a new plate glass was put in the south window of the Century Store.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Ward closed their cottage on Oakwood Terrace today and left for Washington, to spend the remainder of the winter.

—Mr. William Williams had his first court trial today in the district court, Mr. Harvey being the opposing counsel. It was a civil case and was tried in a civil manner.

—The work of construction of the parsonage for the Second Baptist Church on Bull street, has begun. The foundation was put in some days ago; the carpenters have now made a start.

—The new heater for the First Methodist Episcopal Church has reached Newport, is in the building, and it is expected that it will be connected with the radiators this afternoon.

—The Red Men's Club is to give a social in Masonic hall February 16. This is a new departure for the club in recent years, but from the way tickets are being disposed of its success is assured.

—At a special meeting of the Newport Natural History Society Monday evening, a committee consisting of Joseph G. Parmenter and T. T. Pitman was appointed to submit a minute in regard to the death of Captain Joseph P. Cotton, who was for many years an active member and an officer of the society.

—John Reardon, at his boatshop on Long wharf, is fitting out for the Newport Coal Company the 45-foot launch it purchased from the builder at Fort Adams. A 16-horse-power motor is being installed and a cabin built, so that men can be carried around where the company has work to do. The new launch will be able to do some towing, which is often found necessary. He also has two boats from Providence. One, a carboat is having an engine installed, and a well built one, a sloop, is being generally overhauled.

MRS. THOMPSON TESTIFIES.

Daughter of J. J. Van Alen May Carry Case to Court of Customs Appeals.

Mrs. May Van Alen Thompson, wife of Griswold A. Thompson, and daughter of James J. Van Alen, appeared Monday before Byron S. Waite, general appraiser in New York, to testify in connection with her differences with the customs authorities.

James F. Curtis, formerly Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, represented Mrs. Thompson, and under his questioning she told of the places in which she has lived. Mrs. Thompson stated that she was born in New York, was taken to England when six months old, lived there continuously for 10 years and after that made frequent visits to the United States. During the past three years she said, she came here annually for the Newport season, but had spent the rest of the year at her father's estate, "Rushton Hall," Northamptonshire, England. Mrs. Thompson stated that she was married to Mr. Thompson in England in September. Mr. Thompson testified that he is a resident of New York.

The dispute involves the question of whether Mrs. Thompson shall pay duty on a large trousseau and a quantity of personal effects which she brought to this country on her arrival in October. She sailed by way of Boston on board the Arabic of the White Star line. The customs inspector at that port held up 25 trunks. It is said that the value of their contents was about $40,000.

Mrs. Thompson's contention is that she is a non-resident and as such is entitled to bring in her personal effects without payment of duties. The government asserts that, by marriage to an American, Mrs. Thompson became a resident of this country. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson was celebrated in England and not in America. It is contended that this fact places a different light on the case. Mrs. Thompson appealed from the customs decision to the Board of General Appraisers.

After hearing the testimony the board gave counsel a week in which to submit briefs. It is expected that Mrs. Thompson will carry the case to the court of customs appeals, the final arbiter in such disputes, if the decision is against her.

MAKE FEATURE JUMP.

Cyclones Shake Last Place by Winning Recreation League Events.

The Cyclones made the feature jump in the Recreation League at the Young Men's Christian Association since the series started, won five of its six contests, and as a result shook last place, pasing the fourth position also for a berth in third place. Captain Newton Holmes hopes his team will be among the leaders before the finish, and as the locomotive races were those which the Cyclones proved most efficient in the members of that team are much in favor of continuing those contests.

The Whirlwinds, the leaders, also did well, winning four of five contests, and are at present the holders of the "cellar" championship. The present standing of the league shows that the Whirlwinds are the first team to pass the century mark in scoring being first with 110 points, while the Monsoons are second with 85. The Cyclones have a slight lead on the Hurricanes in the race for third place, the Cyclones having 67½ and the Hurricanes 64, while the Tornadoes have not scored a point for nearly a month and are last with 49½.

Although most of the various teams' rosters are filled there are still two which could handle one or two more men. The new members in the league Monday night were Charles Johnson, who went to the Monsoons while E. Roy Griffith registered with the Whirlwinds, the present league leaders. B. Bohusiav has joined the Tornadoes.

The summary of the events is as follows;

Tugs-of-war—Whirlwinds beat Cyclones. Cyclones beat Hurricanes. Whirlwinds beat Monsoons. Hurricanes defeated Tornadoes.

Locomotive races—Cyclones defeated Tornadoes, Hurricanes won over Whirlwinds, Monsoons conquered Hurricanes Cyclones triumphed over Tornadoes for the second time, Cyclones hung the Indian sign on Monsoons, Whirlwinds trimmed Hurricanes.

WINTER CONDITIONS.

Trying Hard to Snow and the Ice Cutters Hard at Work.

The weather has taken several dabs at snowing since the News last went to press. It seemed to be snowing pretty fair when people left the Elks' ball Monday night, or this morning. It started about 11:30 and came down in big flakes, but it was like all the other snowstorms this season—just a try-out. There have been several trials today. The wind has come around to the northeast, and it looks as if it might snow if the weather is not too mild.

The ice cutters are still hustling all along the line. Monday night the work shut down at Lily pond at 6 o'clock, because of a shift of the gallery, but at Green End continued to the usual time. This was by the Newport Ice Company; the others are also cutting right along. Out in Tiverton the mill pond has been cut over once and they are waiting for it to freeze again.

DEAD FROM ASPHYXIATION.

Daughter of Rev. Frank Rector Found in Pawtucket Home.

Mrs Vera Studley, daughter of Rev. Frank Rector, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pawtucket and formerly of the old Second Baptist Church of this city, and her four-years-old son, Rector Kenneth Studley, were found dead from asphyxiation at their home in Pawtucket this morning. When a servant went to call Mrs. Studley she found the doors and windows tightly closed and gas escaping from all the burners in the room. Mrs. Studley had been in ill health for some time. Mrs. Studley was 30 years old. Her husband, Nathan H. Studley, is a traveling dry goods salesman, and was not at home.

"Damaged Goods" Refused Permit by the Police Commissioners.

The Police Commission of Woonsocket Monday afternoon, by unanimous vote, refused to grant a permit for the production of the play, "Damaged Goods," in the Park Theatre Saturday of this week. This action followed a vigorous denunciation of the play at the regular roll-call meeting of the Holy Name Society in St. Charles Church Sunday evening, by Rev. James A. FitzSimon, the moderator. The meeting was attended by 600 men and was open to the public. Father FitzSimon's denunciation of this drama was followed by a general protest against the introduction of the play in Woonsocket, when every man present rose to his feet and publicly voiced his objection to the play being presented in Woonsocket.

The members of the Police Commission received a representative of the theatre staff, who appeared in behalf of the play, and stated that it had been approved by clergymen, Congressmen, women's clubs, etc., throughout the country and said that the company was to give a return engagement at Worcester under the auspices of a women's club. The commissioners decided, however, that "Damaged Goods" is not a play which they desired to have produced before the citizens of Woonsocket, and the youth of the city especially, and unanimously refused the permit.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. J. Alton Barker is booked to leave Friday for Cuba on a business trip, lasting some weeks.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt and their young son sailed today on steamship Nieuw Amsterdam for Europe.

Mrs. Brooks who has been with her parents in Virginia goes to see her sisters, Mrs. Waldorf Astor and Mrs. Paul Phipps, in London for the winter.

GREENBACK OPINIONS ENDORSED.

Congressman Sherwood's Currency Views Adopted After Forty Years.

Good Times in the West—"Elder Statesmen" Dictate Legislation to the New Senators.

(Washington correspondence of the News.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—If a man lives long enough he may get what he wants. That seems to be the case with Hon. Isaac Sherwood, last general officer of the Civil war to hold a seat in the House. He has recently printed a speech in the Record, under the general leave granted when the currency bill was finally passed, in which he points out that so called greenback views he held 40 years ago are at last endorsed.

"Almost 40 years ago," says General Sherwood, "when I was on entering the first time representing the same Congressional district I am now trying to represent, I made a speech on the subject of finance." He then went on to detail some of the frauds of finance at that time. It was just after silver had been demonetized. The issue of greenbacks had been reduced to $346,000,000. It was held that sound money, gold, should be used to redeem every dollar. Those who wanted more greenbacks were called "rag money lunatics."

General Sherwood said that now, "after 40 years of experience in fiscal economies, with two disastrous money panics fresh in memory—1893 and 1907—we have just enacted a banking and currency law that provides for more inflation of paper currency than even the wildest rag money lunatics' of 1874 ever advocated. I rejoice that I have lived long enough to be a 'sound money man' measured by my adolescent utterances 40 years ago. After wandering in the wilderness I am now in the promised land without changing my views on this distractful question."

"My information is that there are good times throughout the whole central northwest," remarked Senator Clapp of Minnesota. He did not support either the tariff bill or the currency bill of the Democratic party, although he is one of the Senators regarded as ultra progressive. "The farmers of the northwest," continued Senator Clapp, "were somewhat disturbed about the probable reduction of the price of meat and wheat on account of importations from Canada, but in my opinion we could eat in 60 days all the meat Canada could produce. There will be a slight reduction in the price of wheat, perhaps, for Canada can produce large quantities of wheat, but not such as produce hard times. It looks to me as if business was booming in that region."

"It seems to me we are 'resoluting' on a great many subjects." Those words came from Senator McCumber of North Dakota, and the Senate felt a cold chill. Never before had such frivolous speech been uttered by him in the 15 years he had been a member of that body. Careful, slow, deliberate, complete, well formed sentences only have ever been allowed to escape from McCumber. Slang! No wonder the Senate was surprised.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts came to the Senate 21 years ago. Senator Bacon came one year later. They are the most "Senatorial Senators" in the body. They are well informed regarding the rules and rather tenacious about having them enforced. Next to Gallinger, Lodge has been longer in continuous service than any other man. Bacon is the senior on the Democratic side or, rather, contemporaneous with Tillman, but the South Carolina Senator does not take an active part.

Several years ago when we referred to the "elder statesmen" we meant such men as Aldrich, Hale, Gallinger, Lodge and later men like Smoot, Warren and Clark on the Republican side. It was supposed that the era of "elder statesmen" had departed when the Democrats took control of the Senate, but there are strong evidences that it has been simply transferred across the aisle. The younger element start out bravely, earnestly and vigorously to put certain measures through, and at once they feel the brakes. Bacon, Martin, Simmons, Newlands, Overman, Stone and Clarke apply the pressure which puts the brakes in motion. These men insist upon measures going to their committees, in which the "elder statesmen" have control. The new Senators might like to act rashly, but they can't. It is the way of the Senate.

Congressman Slayden of Texas was presiding in committee of the whole while Congressmen Hinebaugh and Madden of Illinois were discussing something in a low tone. "The chair assumes," said Slayden, "that the two gentlemen were not conversing about anything bearing on this bill, for they have not been talking loud enough for any one to hear them."

THE FINEST LAXATIVE IN THIRTY CENTURIES.
Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is Truly Tasteless—Not Flavored or Disguised.
For 3,000 years castor oil has been the world's best laxative, but until now an offensive, sickening taste has limited its use.
For 3,000 years chemists have tried to remove the taste.
Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is just what the name means—a pure, clear, refined oil without any taste. It is the newest product of Spencer Kellogg & Sons of Buffalo, large refiners of vegetable oils.
Anybody can disguise the taste of castor oil by mixing it with alcohol, wintergreen, peppermint or other flavors, but it remained for the Kelloggs to keep the oil pure and make it tasteless. Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil works even better than the old, evil dose, without pain or griping. Children take it easily.
Sold now in all drug stores, 25c. and 50c. Ask for Kellogg's Tasteless and look for the trade mark on the label—a green castor leaf, bearing the Kellogg signature. Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., oil refiners.

You Can't See "Acid-Mouth"

That's the worst of tooth decay. You aren't sure it's happening till it has happened. But you can be sure of this—will overcome the chief cause of tooth decay—"acid-mouth."

Pebeco
Tooth Paste

And you can be pretty sure that you have "acid-mouth"—because authorities say that 95 out of 100 people suffer from this almost universal result of modern eating and drinking.

But—fortunately—you have Pebeco to help save your teeth from decay and to clean, polish and whiten the teeth in a pleasing and refreshing manner.

THE FINEST LAXATIVE IN THIRTY CENTURIES.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is Truly Tasteless—Not Flavored or Disguised.

For 3,000 years castor oil has been the world's best laxative, but until now an offensive, sickening taste has limited its use.

For 3,000 years chemists have tried to remove the taste.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is just what the name means—a pure, clear, refined oil without any taste. It is the newest product of Spencer Kellogg & Sons of Buffalo, large refiners of vegetable oils.

Anybody can disguise the taste of castor oil by mixing it with alcohol, wintergreen, peppermint or other flavors, but it remained for the Kelloggs to keep the oil pure and make it tasteless. Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil works even better than the old, evil dose, without pain or griping. Children take it easily.

Sold now in all drug stores, 25c. and 50c. Ask for Kellogg's Tasteless and look for the trade mark on the label—a green castor leaf, bearing the Kellogg signature. Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., oil refiners.

sure system Boston is to have, with a pump capable of the work of 50 engines ting to be isolated, dual with a means of communicating between fire and pump station, also of the complete of the Boston department the duties of its officers, including the inspection of buildings in each district There are 91 companies in the city, housed in 66 stations as horses give way to automobiles Boston is strong on the use of chemical hose while New York holds to the hook of the water line

In speaking of the personnel, Mr Cole said politics cannot enter and the civil service is relied on wholly for providing new material or for promotions He detailed the methods of giving information to the men regarding their rights and duties and showed four books used for such, which were left with Chief Kirwin He paid a high compliment to the personnel of the department, the bravery and knowledge of the men, and said that Chief Mullen is the right sort of a leader—one who inspires confidence of the men and the people—and when he arrives at a fire a change is felt because of the confidence placed in him In the speaker's opinion there is no profession which requires quicker judgment than that of a fireman

In closing Mr Cole again referred to the need of fire prevention, and said such work would make a community which adopts it richer It was nearly train time The speaker said he had of necessity rumbled and had not covered all he had wished to say to Newport while those present had hoped to ask him questions Chief Kirwin had the department's runabout outside and the visitor was taken to the train after which the Chief came back and took some of the others home including Chairman Harvey of the Representative Council

PRIVATE MONOPOLY CALLED INDEFENSIBLE.

The scene was a colorful one and no less dramatic than any of the previous occasions when the President, setting aside precedent which had long prevailed since George Washington's time came to the halls of Congress to address the national legislative body in person The high-banked galleries presented a wave of color On the floor the legislators in sombre conventional garb picked the hall to its utmost corners Secretaries Harrison Daniels and Wilson and Postmaster General Burleson had seats on the floor and other officials were clustered about the Speaker's dais Hundreds of people, straining for a glimpse of the President and unable to secure admission picked the halls of the Capitol

The roar of applause which began when the President entered was only stilled by Mr Wilson's evident desire to proceed with his reading and as he began in a silent voice which carried throughout the chamber one might almost have heard a pin drop

As the President read his message of business peace and industrial freedom its administration supporters called it he frequently was interrupted with applause and at times demonstrations approaching cheering His reference to interlocking directorates was received without demonstration but when he referred to the proposal to authorize the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate the financial operations of the railroads a burst of applause hailed the reading and the President waited for it to subside

His declarations that the laws should tear nothing up by the roots and that no sweeping or novel change is necessary were received with attentive silence Republican Leader James R Mann led the applause which greeted the declaration for giving the Interstate Commerce Commission power to regulate railroad finances Another round of applause followed the President's statement as to railroad control with its declaration the business of production must be separated from the business of transportation

Loud applause greeted the conclusion of the address at 12 51 o'clock As he left the chamber Majority Leader Underwood greeted him with a hand clasp and on his way out the President was delayed by many who sought to shake his hand

It's a very very fine message, that tells the whole story How can one say more? 'was Speaker Clark's comment on the President's message

The President's plan is inadequate declared Representative Murdock of Kansas leader of the House Progressives' Like all inadequate plans it will render the trust evil more acute it will not remedy The President is well intentioned, but so long as there are reactionary forces in his party he cannot get results in this problem

Representative Underwood, Democratic leader of the House said The President's message points the way to progressive remedial legislation that will relieve the people from evil practices that have some times been carried on in the past and at the same time the tone of the message is such that it leaves no cause for alarm by the legitimate business interests of the country

WESCOTT ATTORNEY GENERAL.

James F. Fielder Inaugurated Governor of New Jersey.

TRENTON, N J Jan 20—James F Fielder was today inaugurated governor of New Jersey Mr Fielder was acting Governor after Woodrow Wilson become President of the United States and returned from the place last fall to become a candidate for the full term beginning today

Among the appointments announced by Governor Fielder was that of John W Westcott of Camden to be attorney general Mr Westcott placed Governor Wilson's name before the Baltimore convention for the Presidential nomination

Leon Taylor the youngest man who ever occupied the governor's chair relinquished his post in the executive office at midnight and left the stage set for the inauguration of Mr Fielder Mr Taylor, who is barely 30 years old was a railroad brakeman not so many years ago He took office when Mr Fielder, who followed President Wilson in office resigned to make his race for governor

ON MEXICAN PUBLIC DEBT

Protest May be Entered Against Suspension of Payment of Interest

PARIS Jan 20 The French foreign office today instructed the minister to Mexico to protest to Provisional President Huerta against the suspension of the payment of interest on the Mexican public debt

The French note differentiates between the loans of 1910 and 1913 The first of these secured a 6 per cent of the Mexican customs dues received the formal approval of the French government which authorized the listing of the bonds on the Paris Bourse The foreign office therefore protests on this account against this default of interest on the loan

The second protest is made on behalf of and at the request of French bankers in regard to the loan of 1913 which was secured on 8 per cent of the Mexican customs dues but which did not receive the recognition of the French government

It is understood that the note to Provisional President Huerta mentioned in careful terms that the French government will not now exercise the privilege of forced collection of the Mexican customs duties and the document is framed in such a way as to imply full support of the Mexican policy of the United States

Work on Delaware & Hudson Reaches Normal Proportions.

ALBANY N Y Jan 20—Operations on the Delaware & Hudson railway had reached practically normal proportions today in striking contrast to its paralyzed condition during the 18 hour strike yesterday The strike came to an end last night when officials of the company at the suggestion of G W Hunger of the federal board of mediation and conciliation acceded to the demands of the employes

By the terms of agreement two employes who had been discharged for alleged violation of the company's rules were restored to their former positions The strikers returned to their work on exactly the same footing as when they left

LOREE'S STATEMENT

Delaware & Hudson's Action Has Enforced No Principle

NEW YORK Jan 20—L F Loree president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad issued a statement here today explaining that as far as the road was concerned last night's concessions to the unions as a means to settling the strike should not necessarily be considered as entering any principle or establishing a precedent The course of the road he added had been controlled by what it conceived to be its obligations under the Newlands act Having called on the board of mediation and conciliation to act in the dispute Mr Loree points out that W W Hanger of that board having urged the Delaware & Hudson to refrain from its position in order to put it to the public the road is fully bound to accept his recommendations It is obvious the statement concludes that this action neither has formed any principal nor does it establish a mode which Mr Loree thinks is to be maintained means must be found to insure action by Newland law or railroads should be relieved of their obligations under it

FIVE NATIONS ACCEPT.

Powers to Participate in Naval Cruise Through the Panama Canal

Five of the nations invited to take part in the naval cruise from Hampton Roads by way of the Panama canal to the Golden Gate have formally notified the State Department of their acceptance The Argentine Republic France Germany Great Britain and Italy have already decided to send ships according to the press reports and it is not doubted that when the time comes all the maritime nations of the world will be represented at the time

The president of the Navy Department will fix the number of ships in the fleet of the nations which have signified their intention to participate sure system Boston is to have, with a pump capable of the work of 60 engines, line to be isolated, dual with a means of communicating between fire and pump station, also of the completion of the Boston department, the duties of its officers, including the inspection of buildings in each district. There are 31 companies in the city, housed in 30 stations, with a further reduction of stations as horses give way to automobiles. Boston is strong on the use of chemical hose, while New York holds to the flood of the water line.

In speaking of the personnel, Mr. Cole said politics cannot enter and the civil service is relied on wholly for providing new material or for promotions. He detailed the methods of giving information to the men regarding their rights and duties, and showed four books used for such, which were left with Chief Kirwin. He paid a high compliment to the personnel of the department, the bravery and knowledge of the men, and said that Chief Mullen is the right sort. He is a leader—one who inspires confidence of the men and the people—and when he arrives at a fire a change is felt because of the confidence placed in him. In the speaker's opinion there is no profession which requires quicker judgment than that of a fireman.

In closing, Mr Cole again referred to the need of fire prevention, and said such work would make a community which adopts it richer. It was nearly train time. The speaker said he had of necessity rambled, and had not covered all he had wished to say to Newport, while those present had hoped to ask him questions. Chief Kirwin had the department's runabout outside, and the visitor was taken to the train, after which the Chief came back and took some of the others home, including Chairman Harvey of the Representative Council.

THE ROGERS HOCKEY TEAM.

Manager Irving S. Blaine of the Rogers High School hockey teams is trying hard to fill his schedule, but up to date has not met with marked success, although there are many teams in and around Providence which are the nucleus of the interscholastic hockey league there. Manager Blaine's only game so far is with St. George's for February 4. The candidates for the team have been practicing almost daily since the ice formed on the pond and have the makings of a fast school team. At the practice Monday afternoon Louis H. Hobbs was elected captain of the team.

PRIVATE MONOPOLY CALLED INDEFENSIBLE.

The scene was a colorful one and no less dramatic than any of the previous occasions when the President, setting aside precedent which had long prevailed since George Washington's time, came to the halls of Congress to address the national legislative body in person. The high-banked galleries presented a wave of color. On the floor the legislators, in sombre conventional garb, packed the hall to its utmost corners. Secretaries Harrison, Daniels and Wilson and Postmaster General Burleson had seats on the floor and other officials were clustered about the Speaker's dais. Hundreds of people, straining for a glimpse of the President and unable to secure admission, packed the halls of the Capitol.

The roar of applause which began when the President entered was only stilled by Mr. Wilson's evident desire to proceed with his reading, and as he began in a clear voice which carried throughout the chamber one might almost have heard a pin drop.

As the President read his message of "business peace and industrial freedom" as administration supporters called it, he frequently was interrupted with applause and at times demonstrations approaching cheering. His reference to interlocking directorates was received without demonstration, but when he referred to the proposal to authorize the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate the financial operations of the railroads a burst of applause halted the reading and the President waited for it to subside.

His declarations that the laws should "tear nothing up by the roots" and that "no sweeping or novel change is necessary" were received with attentive silence. Republican Leader James R. Mann led the applause which greeted the declaration for giving the Interstate Commerce Commission power to regulate railroad finances. Another round of applause followed the President's statement as to railroad control with its declaration that "business of production must be separated from the business of transportation."

Loud applause greeted the conclusion of the address at 12:51 o'clock. As he left the chamber Majority Leader Underwood greeted him with a hand clasp, and on his way out the President was delayed by many who sought to shake his hand.

"It's a very, very fine message, that tells the whole story. How can one say more?" was Speaker Clark's comment on the President's message.

"The President's plan is inadequate," declared Representative Murdock of Kansas, leader of the House Progressives." Like all inadequate plans it will render the trust evil more acute. It will not remedy. The President is well intentioned, but so long as there are reactionary forces in his party he cannot get results in this problem."

Representative Underwood, Democratic leader of the House, said: "The President's message points the way to progressive remedial legislation that will relieve the people from evil practices that have some times been carried on in the past, and at the same time the tone of the message is such that it leaves no cause for alarm by the legitimate business interests of the country.

WESCOTT ATTORNEY GENERAL.

James F. Fielder Inaugurated Governor of New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 20.—James F. Fielder was today inaugurated governer of New Jersey. Mr. Fielder was acting Governor after Woodrow Wilson become President of the United States and returned from the place last fall to become a candidate for the full term, beginning today.

Among the appointments announced by Governor Fielder was that of John W. Westcott of Camden to be attorney general. Mr. Westcott placed Governor Wilson's name before the Baltimore convention for the Presidential nomination.

Leon Taylor, the youngest man who ever occupied the governor's chair, relinquished his post in the executive office at midnight and left the stage set for the inauguration of Mr Fielder. Mr. Taylor, who is barely 30 years old was a railroad brakeman not so many years ago. He took office when Mr. Fielder, who followed President Wilson in office, resigned to make his race for governor.

story of the excitement at the beach. He is a chauffeur and was waiting in his automobile at the beach entrance.

The state called several witnesses in rebuttal. William J. Samuels, clerk of the Broadway Hardware Company testified regarding the cartridges. James F. O'Connell and David McB. Syme were re-called and testified that when Smith fired the shots there was space to the eastward, while to the northeast the crowd was close about him, they said. Smith could have run to the eastward. Edward F. Mathewson of Providence, who has been a clerk in a gunshop for 30 years, and Police Officer Patrick F. Reardon of Providence, gave expert evidence regarding cartridges. Maurice P. Connery, court stenographer, was called to read certain evidence given at the former trial.

Julius L. Mitchell will make the argument for the defense and Assistant Attorney General Livingston Ham for the prosecution. Their arguments are expected to take the whole afternoon.

ON MEXICAN PUBLIC DEBT.

Protest May be Entered Against Suspension of Payment of Interest.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The French foreign office today instructed the minister to Mexico to protest to Provisional President Huerta against the suspension of the payment of interest on the Mexican public debt.

The Frech note differentiates between the loans of 1910 and 1913. The first of these, secured by 62 per cent of the Mexican customs dues, received the formal approval of the French government which authorized the listing of the bonds on the Paris Bourse. The foreign office, therefore, protests on its wn acount against the default of interest on the loan.

The second protest is made on behalf of and at the request of French bankers in regard to the loan of 1913, which was secured by 35 per cent of the Mexican customs dues, but which did not receive the recognition of the French government.

It is understood that the note to Provisional President Huerta mentioned in careful terms that the French government will not now exercise its privilege of forced collection of the Mexican customs duties, and the document is framed in such a way as to imply tacit support of the Mexican policy of the United States.

MEN BACK ON SAME FOOTING.

Work on Delaware & Hudson Reaches Normal Proportions.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Operations on the Delaware & Hudson railway had reached practically normal proportions today, in striking contrast to its paralyzed condition during the 16-hour strike yesterday. The strike came to an end last night, when officials of the company, at the suggestion of G. W. W. Hanger of the federal board of mediation and conciliation, acceded to the demands of the employes.

By the terms of agreement, two employes who had been discharged for alleged violation of the company's rules were restored to their former positions. The strikers returned to their work on exactly the same footing as when they left.

LOREE'S STATEMENT.

Delaware & Hudson's Action Has Enforced No Principle.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad, issued a statement here today explaining that, as far as the road was concerned, last night's concessions to the unions as a means to settling the strike should not necessarily be considered as enforcing any principle or establishing a precedent. The course of the road, he added, had been controlled by what it conceived to be its obligations under the Newland act. Having called on the board of mediation and conciliation to act in the dispute, Mr. Loree points out, and G. W. W. Hanger of that board having urged the Delaware & Hudson to recede from its positon in order to protect the public, the road felt duty bound to accept his recommendations. "It is obvious," the statement concludes, "that his action neither enformed any principal nor does it establish a modus vivendi. If discipline is to be maintained, means must be found to insure action of the Newland law or railroads should be relieved of their obligations under it."

FIVE NATIONS ACCEPT.

Powers to Participate in Naval Cruise Through the Panama Canal.

Five of the nations invited to take part in the naval cruise from Hampton Roads by way of the Panama canal to the Golden Gate next year have formally notified the State Department of their acceptance. They are the Argentine Republic, France, Germany, Great Britain and Portugal. Japan also has decided to participate according to the press reports, and it is not doubted that when the time comes all the maritime nations of the world will be represented in the line.

The program of the Navy Department calls for the appearance in line of about 100 war ships, 68 of them under foreign flags. The powers having great navies are invited to send each four vessels, and those with lesser naval establishments to contribute two each.

The exact date has not yet been set, but under the terms of the act of Congress it must be early in 1915.

Membership Campaign Well Started with Long Automobile Parade.

All Classes at the Y. M. C. A. Represented in Procession Through Every Ward of City.

Beginning with a dinner in the banquet hall at the Young Men's Christian Association Monday evening, at which nearly all the members of the Recreation League were present, the Employed Boys in the meantime having their dinner in their rooms, the membership campaign was well started with a long automobile parade, in which all the classes at the Association were represented. The route covered every ward in the city and was exceptionally long, and with the members making all the noise they could may attracted much attention.

While confused noise making may be sufficient to draw a crowd, it takes something with a more commanding tone to attract the public. Thus the members were wise enough to provide in the way of four buglers from the Naval Training Station, whose selections caused many people to read the signs on the automobiles, announcing that the Association desires 200 new members within two weeks. The four buglers who were so prominent in the parade were Edward E. Welch, Joseph Bardsley, William E. Kasmare and F. Brown.

Immediately after the dinner the members took their places in the various automobiles and started on their trip over the city. The first car, which was loaned by Mr. John Mahan of "Hammersmith Farm," contained the four buglers and the Crows, the leaders of the Pan-Athletic League. In the next car, which was J. K. Sullivan's automobile, were President Harry A. Titus of the Association and several members of the board of directors. After Mr. Sullivan's came Mr. Samuel Smythe's automobile, which contained the Whirlwinds, the present leaders of the Recreation League, with their captain, Lloyd Robson, and in the other cars were members of the various teams in the different leagues. Other automobiles in the parade were loaned by Messrs. William MacLeod, Arthur Lowy, Benjamin T. White, Herbert Bliss, Karl Bostel, J. K. McLennan, William B. Scott, Beanievin & Potter, Armour & Co., and Tisdall & Co.

The streets covered were Mary, through Clarke to Washington square, and then in the following order: Thames, Narragansett avenue, Spring, Broadway, Rhode Island avenue, Hope, Friendship, Malbone avenue, Warner, Gould, Broadway, Ferewell, Chestnut, Third, Willow, Washington, Bridge, Thames, Franklin, Spring, Broadway, Washington square, Touro, Clarke, back to the Association, where the Recreation League games were started.

Mr. Talbot Smith-Hanan and Miss Perkins Married in New York.

Miss Florence Amelia Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Rodman Perkins of Boston, was married Monday to Mr. Talbot Smith-Hanan in the Church of the Transfiguration New York. Rev. Dr. George C. Houghton, the rector, officiated. Only relatives were present, no one else having been invited because of mourning.

The bride wore a costume of white Ottoman silk with an ermine collar and a small white hat trimmed with fur. She also wore Mr. Smith-Hanan's gift, a diamond and pearl pendant which his father gave to his mother when they were married. She was attended by Miss Madeleine Whittier and Miss Alberta Barnard Crafts of Providence.

Mr. Smith-Hanan was attended by Mr. J. Bernard Miller of Boston, and the ushers were Messrs. Allan L. Story and Edward Jordan of New York, and Stephen D. Webster and Albert Sumner of Providence.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith-Hanan started for Palm Beach, Fla., for their honeymoon. After their return they will give a reception in Mr. Smith-Hanan's house, "We Two", at Narragansett Pier.

Mr. Smith-Hanan is a son of Mrs. John H. Hanan, a great-grandson of the late Alfred Smith, and a grandson of the late Colonel Howard Smith.

Naval Reserves Defeat Visitors by Large Score in Opening Game of Season.

Galahad First Team Continues Winning Streak in Basket Ball Contest with Rogers Seniors.

Playing their first game of the season, with three of the former St. Joseph's basket ball team as a nucleus for its quintet, the Naval Reserves defeated the Bristol Reserves in the armory Monday evening, before a fairly large crowd, by the big score of 63-15. About the only thing in which the visitors were proficient was in shooting foul goals, making seven of their 10 tries at the basket in this manner. The Naval Reserves are out for the state militia championship, and if the opponents are not much harder than Bristol their chances are bright.

The Reserves showed the effects of continual practicing, as they threw in goals from all angles of the court, but their playing incurred a little towards the individual, a style which only steady practice and games can improve. As individual shots the Reserves look as good as the Tabs, and with Dawley, Williams and Carr to drop them in they should make high tallies in every contest.

Bristol was weak in the back field, and had only a few wild tries for the basket. Their playing denoted a passing team with little blocking, the kind which is always crushed in this city. In practice they looked like crack shots, but after the opening whistle had blown it was an entirely different matter to bring the ball even near the basket, and still less to score many field goals.

Williams at centre for the Reserves had a man opposing him who was fully a head taller, but succeeded in winning the jump every time. The locals also secured an advantage on the opening jump, when the ball would go to one of the Reserves forwards, who had run up to meet it while the Bristol buck field stood as if anchored. The ball would then be brought near the Reserve basket, where Williams, Dawley, Carr and Co. would shoot, and shoot, and shoot.

When the game started it proved an easy matter for the Reserves to score, Nolan beginning with a goal from the foul line soon after the opening whistle. Williams, who played a star game during the half, dropped in the next one, and then the local reserves began a spurt which did not argue well for the Bristol "sailors," who were soon left far behind. Williams at centre was the high scorer for the half with seven goals, while Nolan and Carr made four each. Four of the Bristol team's points came on foul tries in this half, while they also made three isolated field goals, the half ending 37-10 in Newport's favor.

Kirby went in at centre in the second half, Murphy taking his place at guard. Bristol substituted Place for Osterberg, but all the up-state team could do was to tally three points on fouls, with a solitary field goal, while the Reserves scored so often that it became monotonous. This half ended 26-5, with Bristol again on the short end.

Williams played the best game for the Reserves, and Carr was the high scorer with eight goals. Dawley played a good floor game, while Nolan was one of the high scorers. Osterberg's shooting of fouls was the only redeeming feature of the Bristol play. The line-up and summary:

Naval Reserves.	Bristol
Carr, r. f.	l. g., Hickey
Dawley, l. f.	r. g., Marshall
Williams, Kirby, c.	c., Bottomley
Nolan, r. g.	l. f., E. Murphy
Kirby, Murphy, l. g.	r. f., Osterberg, Place

Score—Naval Reserves 63, Bristol 15. Goals from the court—Carr 5, Williams 7, Nolan 6, Dawley 4, Kirby 1, Murphy 2; Bottomley 2, E. Murphy, Osterberg. Goals from foul line—Osterberg 7; Nolan. Referee—Sullivan. Scorer—Jemail. Timer—Cottrell. Time—20-minute halves.

The Galahad first team continued its winning streak in the guild hall, when the Seniors of the Rogers class league were defeated in a close game, 27-24. The Seniors were always a little behind the Galahads, although they were always threatening, making the game exciting. Galahad won in the first half, when the Seniors were outscored, 11-12. This lead held the winners in good stead, as the Seniors rallied during the latter period and made 12 points, while the Galahads were making only 10. Gustafson played a star game for the Galahads, while Scott and Reavey did well for the Seniors. The line-up:

Galahads.	Seniors.
Plummer, r. f.	l. g., Reavey
Gustafson, l. f.	r. g., Sherman
Wilkinson, c.	c., Lawton
Johnson, r. g.	l. f., Geraghty
Bye, l. g.	r. f., Scott

Score—Galahads 27, Seniors 24. Goals from floor—Plummer 5, Gustafson 2, Johnson 3, Wilkinson 3, Scott 5, Geraghty 4, Lawton, Sherman and Reavey. Goals from foul—Johnson. Referee—McGinnis. Timer—Lawson. Time—Two 20-minute halves.

EASILY WIN THEIR WAY.

"Pinafore Kiddies" Have Good Voices and Show Careful Training.

It is Hap Ward of the team of Ward and Vokes, whom theatre-goers of the days gone by remember, who is responsible for the "Pinafore Kiddies" now playing at the Opera House. The dozen and a half juveniles who opened their engagement Monday at once sang and acted their way into popularity, for there is not the least thing amateurish about them. The old "Pinafore" songs are just as tuneful and inspiring as ever in their rendition, but the "kiddies" do not rely entirely on "Pinafore" to win their just praise. Besides the songs, the company costumes the part and there is a good setting of the good old ship which sailed the seas. Master Nelson as Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., has no trouble with the most difficult passages in his songs, and Babe Smith as Josephine conducts herself like a well-seasoned opera star. There are other excellent soloists, while the chorus work is admirable, showing most careful training of good voices. The program is run in two acts, with a motion picture between

FOOD FOR THOUGHT FOR WEEKS.

Boston's Fire Commissioner Tells Channing Club of Modern Department.

Prevention First, Then Protection—Notification, Transportation and Extinguishment.

With proper fire prevention Americans can save 50 per cent of their present insurance and fire tax.

Europeans have poorer fire departments, but build much better than Americans.

European fire losses are in the ratio of 33 to 279 to those in the United States.

It is the people, not the insurance companies, who pay the losses. They are still taxed for the San Francisco fire.

A fire chief should be a leader of men in whom implicit confidence is placed.

Fire laws are defective. There is too much division of responsibility.

Fire Commissioner Cole.

Mr. Charles F. Cole, Greater Boston's energetic and able fire commissioner, was in town about two hours Monday evening, during which he dined and delivered a rapid-fire talk on fire matters, before half a hundred citizens, including Chief Kirwin. Publicly he made no criticism of the Newport fire department, as he has not studied it, but in conversation he expressed surprise when informed that this little city maintains 10 fire stations. He gave a wealth of information in the time he had to speak, and still did not begin to say all he desired. What he did say will form food for thought for weeks, and after the meeting some citizens expressed the opinion that the Representative Council cannot possibly determine an equitable policy for the future of the fire department in time for the usual passage of the tax budget. They seem to think a drastic re-organization of the department must be planned.

The occasion of the visit of Commissioner Cole was the monthly meeting of the Channing Club, and the announcement that he would speak on "The Modern Fire Department" called out the largest attendance in some time. The dinner was served in the Channing parlors by Muenchinger. It was already on when the guest arrived, because of his limited time to give to Newport. Chief Kirwin could not be there until the dinner was over, and at that time several members of the fire department came in. It was an attentive audience, and one which seemed eager for enlightenment on such a subject.

The speaker opened by saying that fire prevention is his hobby. All fires are of the same size at the start. Since the Civil war 50,000 human beings have lost their lives by fire and seven billions of property has been destroyed. The maintenance of fire departments has cost five billions in that time. Seventy-five per cent of fires are preventable. We burn up our property and pay heavily for fire departments. The year's fire loss equals the value of our wheat crop.

The losses are not paid by the insurance companies, but by all of us. We are still paying an extra tax for the San Francisco fire. Europe handles the conditions better. We build fast and burn fast; they do the opposite and save the losses. With a fire loss of $2.79 for the United States, six European nations average a loss of 33 cents. The loss of life is in the same ratio, with much superior fire departments in this country. We are much richer in our national resources, but we waste them by burning them up. It takes an event like the San Francisco fire to make us think.

Competent engineers believe we can cut the life and money loss in half by proper prevention measures. We are lax in the enforcement of our laws and do not have proper building restrictions. We are not progressing in fire prevention as we should for our own good. There is too much division of responsibility. Police, highway, building and other departments have powers which should be vested in the fire departments, which are the most interested, and this department should be held responsible without the possibility of shifting the blame to others.

In Boston the fire department controls all storage of gasoline and a garage cannot be built without its permissions, in consequence of which there has been a great reduction of such fires and their ensuing heavy loss. Gasoline is a very dangerous commodity, and it is never known what it will do. Because some people have never had a fire from it they do not look upon it with the fear they should. The firemen know its full horrors.

Boston pays $2,000,000 a year for its fire department; with proper prevention measures this could be halved. An attempt to introduce such measures causes a storm of protest, as the greed for property is placed above human life and we continue in the school of bitter experience. If we build better and eliminate rubbish and other causes for fire, we would have lower insurance rates, the taxes for maintaining fire departments would be lessened, and thus rents would be less, so that the common man would reap a direct benefit. The Massachusetts legislature has a law before it which, passed this winter, will greatly better conditions, though it does not go so far as the speaker would like. It is on the line of centralizing the responsibility for the fire peril in the fire department.

The speaker said that while prevention is an important, protection must be provided. This might be divided into three heads: Notification, transportation and extinguishment.

Notification—Here the speaker spoke of the Boston fire alarm. This part of the department comprises 38 men. Boston is just putting in the non-interfering box, which Newport has had for years. He said all wires should be underground and the system should be interchangeable. Every box should be keyless and surmounted by a red light. Fire alarm headquarters should be isolated and in fireproof quarters. Boston is to put hers underground between the Common and the Public Garden, where it cannot be affected by a conflagration. Boxes he considered should not be more than 500 feet apart in the congested districts. Boston's alarm service has not progressed as it should, because it was left to men who had grown old in its control and they did not keep up with the times. Younger men have been put in, as in the rest of the department, and the service is improving.

Transportation—This subject Mr. Cole opened by saying apparatus should be ready to start in a few seconds from the receipt of the alarm. Boston has a veterinary who has full charge of the 450 horses and is held responsible for their location and condition as to giving the best service. All apparatus is rubber-tired. There are 45 steam engines, 3 fireboats, 31 trucks and a proportionate number of wagons; there are 44 motor-driven pieces of apparatus in service and ordered: Everything is standardized. A wheel off one steamer will fit any other. The automobile apparatus is standardized to the LaFrance build, and the chiefs' cars to the Buick machines. The department has extensive repair shops and keeps apparatus in reserve, so that if one piece breaks down another starts to take its place as soon as the injury is reported. The department does its own painting, plumbing and carpentering also.

Thirty shower baths were put in the past year. These meant much to the men during the recent cold snap, when they were so busy, for by taking a hot shower they were quickly in prime condition for the next alarm. Hose is purchased with a three-year guarantee and subjected to 350-pound pressure. It is purchased monthly, so that if a poor lot is secured there is no considerable amount of it. It is tested yearly and the city has 140,000 feet. There is a school for drivers and chauffeurs.

The speaker said he did not pretend to know anything about automobiles, though he favors such apparatus and has said that Boston will purchase no more horse-drawn. He said that when the time for the change to the motor-driven apparatus came the city looked for an expert in the automobile line. Professor Gallup of the Worcester Institute was employed as the best to be found, was told to visit all the factories and report his findings. Under his advice the demands of the Boston department were drawn up and the companies invited to submit specifications. The expert weighed these, and the machines which he selected were demanded for trial, which included a thorough test at the Institute of the build and powers. A standard machine was thus secured. The speaker did not care to say that it was the best machine, but they were convinced that it comes the nearest to what Boston needs. Professor Gallup has now been employed by the National Board of Underwriters and San Francisco has adopted a similar plan of selecting its apparatus. The department builds its ladders, trucks and hose wagons.

Fire extinguishment—Under this head the speaker placed water, distribution and fighting. Boston, he said, has three sources and three aqueducts so its supply may always be relied upon. In referring to the amount of the supply, Mr. Cole made a statement which caused a ripple of laughter throughout the room. He said the supply exceeded the use and is constantly gaining because Boston is putting in meters, and this means a yearly lessening of the consumption, as it does wherever meters are introduced. Mr. Cole believes hydrants should be not more than 300 feet apart, and all of one kind—not eight, as in Boston. He favors the standardizing of the couplings, as the National Board of Fire Underwriters advocates, so that one place can assist another.

The speaker told of the high-pres-

ELKS' TOAST A FEATURE.

Ball, to be Given Annually, One of the Events of the Season.

The ball given by Newport Lodge, No. 104, of Elks, in Masonic hall Monday evening, proved so great a success that it was decided to hold it annually. Attended by a large gathering and with several minor attractions, the ball was one of the events of the season, and reflects highly upon the committee which made it a possibility. A feature was the Elks' toast, given at 11 o'clock.

The hall was decorated along the walls by lattice work twined with smilax, while laurel roping under softened electric lights gave an especially good overhead effect. The orchestra was partly surrounded with palms, which were also seen in the reception room and in the various cozy nooks. In the rear of the stage, but prominent to view, was a series of brown and white sashes with the letters "B. P. O. E." foremost.

Music for the dancing, which began at 9 o'clock, was rendered by McCloskey's augmented orchestra, dancing continuing until 11 o'clock, when a short intermission was taken that all might hear the Elks' toast. With all as attentive listeners the lights were turned out and a spotlight thrown upon the stage, showing the committee with glasses of wine in front of the "B. P. O. E." shield. The chimes struck 11 and Past Exalted Ruler Charles Abbott of Providence Lodge, No. 14, gave the toast. While the chimes were ringing the shield was gradually drawn away, showing behind it in beautiful, small, vari-colored electric light effect, an elk's head with a clock just above it with the hands pointing to 11. Above the clock was a large star, the illumination of which gave additional beauty.

A flashlight was taken of the gathering, after which there was an intermission in which refreshments could be had. Before the dancing was resumed Master M. J. Fogarty, accompanied by Mr. Albert Connette, whose pupil he is, sang with a beautiful soprano voice "To Have, To Hold," and in response to the tremendous applause gave with equal beauty "Last night was the end of the world." Dancing then continued uninterrupted until 2 o'clock.

Mr. J. Frank Albro was floor director, having for assistants Dr. F. Wellington Putman, Mr. James Riley and Mr. Jere J. Sullivan. On the committee of arrangements were Messrs. Bernard A. McGinn, chairman; John X. Kerins, secretary; William F. Noonan, F. J. Albro, Herbert E. Nason and George E. Meade.

WELL KNOWN HERE.

Miss Florence Tobin Engaged to Mr. William Harper of New York.

Announcement was made Monday evening of the engagement of Miss Florence Tobin to Mr. William Harper of New York. Miss Tobin is the niece of Mrs. James J. Brown of Denver, Col., who has resided here for several summers. She has studied art, music and dancing and danced before the German Kaiser for which she received a medal. The announcement was made at a dinner given at the Muenchinger-King for Miss Tobin and her fiance by Mrs. Brown.

Mr. Harper, who is 28 years old, is president of the Harper Engineering Company of New York, and an amateur aviator. On his mother's side he is related to the Beale and McLean families of Washington. He has known Miss Tobin from childhood.

Miss Tobin and her sisters, Mrs. Mortimer Carroll of Chicago and Miss Helen Tobin, who is now in Newport, were adopted by Mrs. Brown on the death of their mother 15 years ago. Mrs. Brown and her nieces have the Club cottage on Bellevue avenue.

IT'S TIME

For us to extend New Year's greetings to you and we want to suggest that thing during 1914. We can help you in this if you buy one of OUR WATCHES.

They keep such good time you can always rely on them. It's the same with all our jewelry; you'll find it satisfactory.
